

Calculator of Privilege

Scottish legal edition

How your organisation can use our new online tool

Calculator of Privilege

Brought to you by Diversity+ and Law Society of Scotland

After carrying out extensive research and testing, this tool was created specifically for members of the Scottish legal profession.

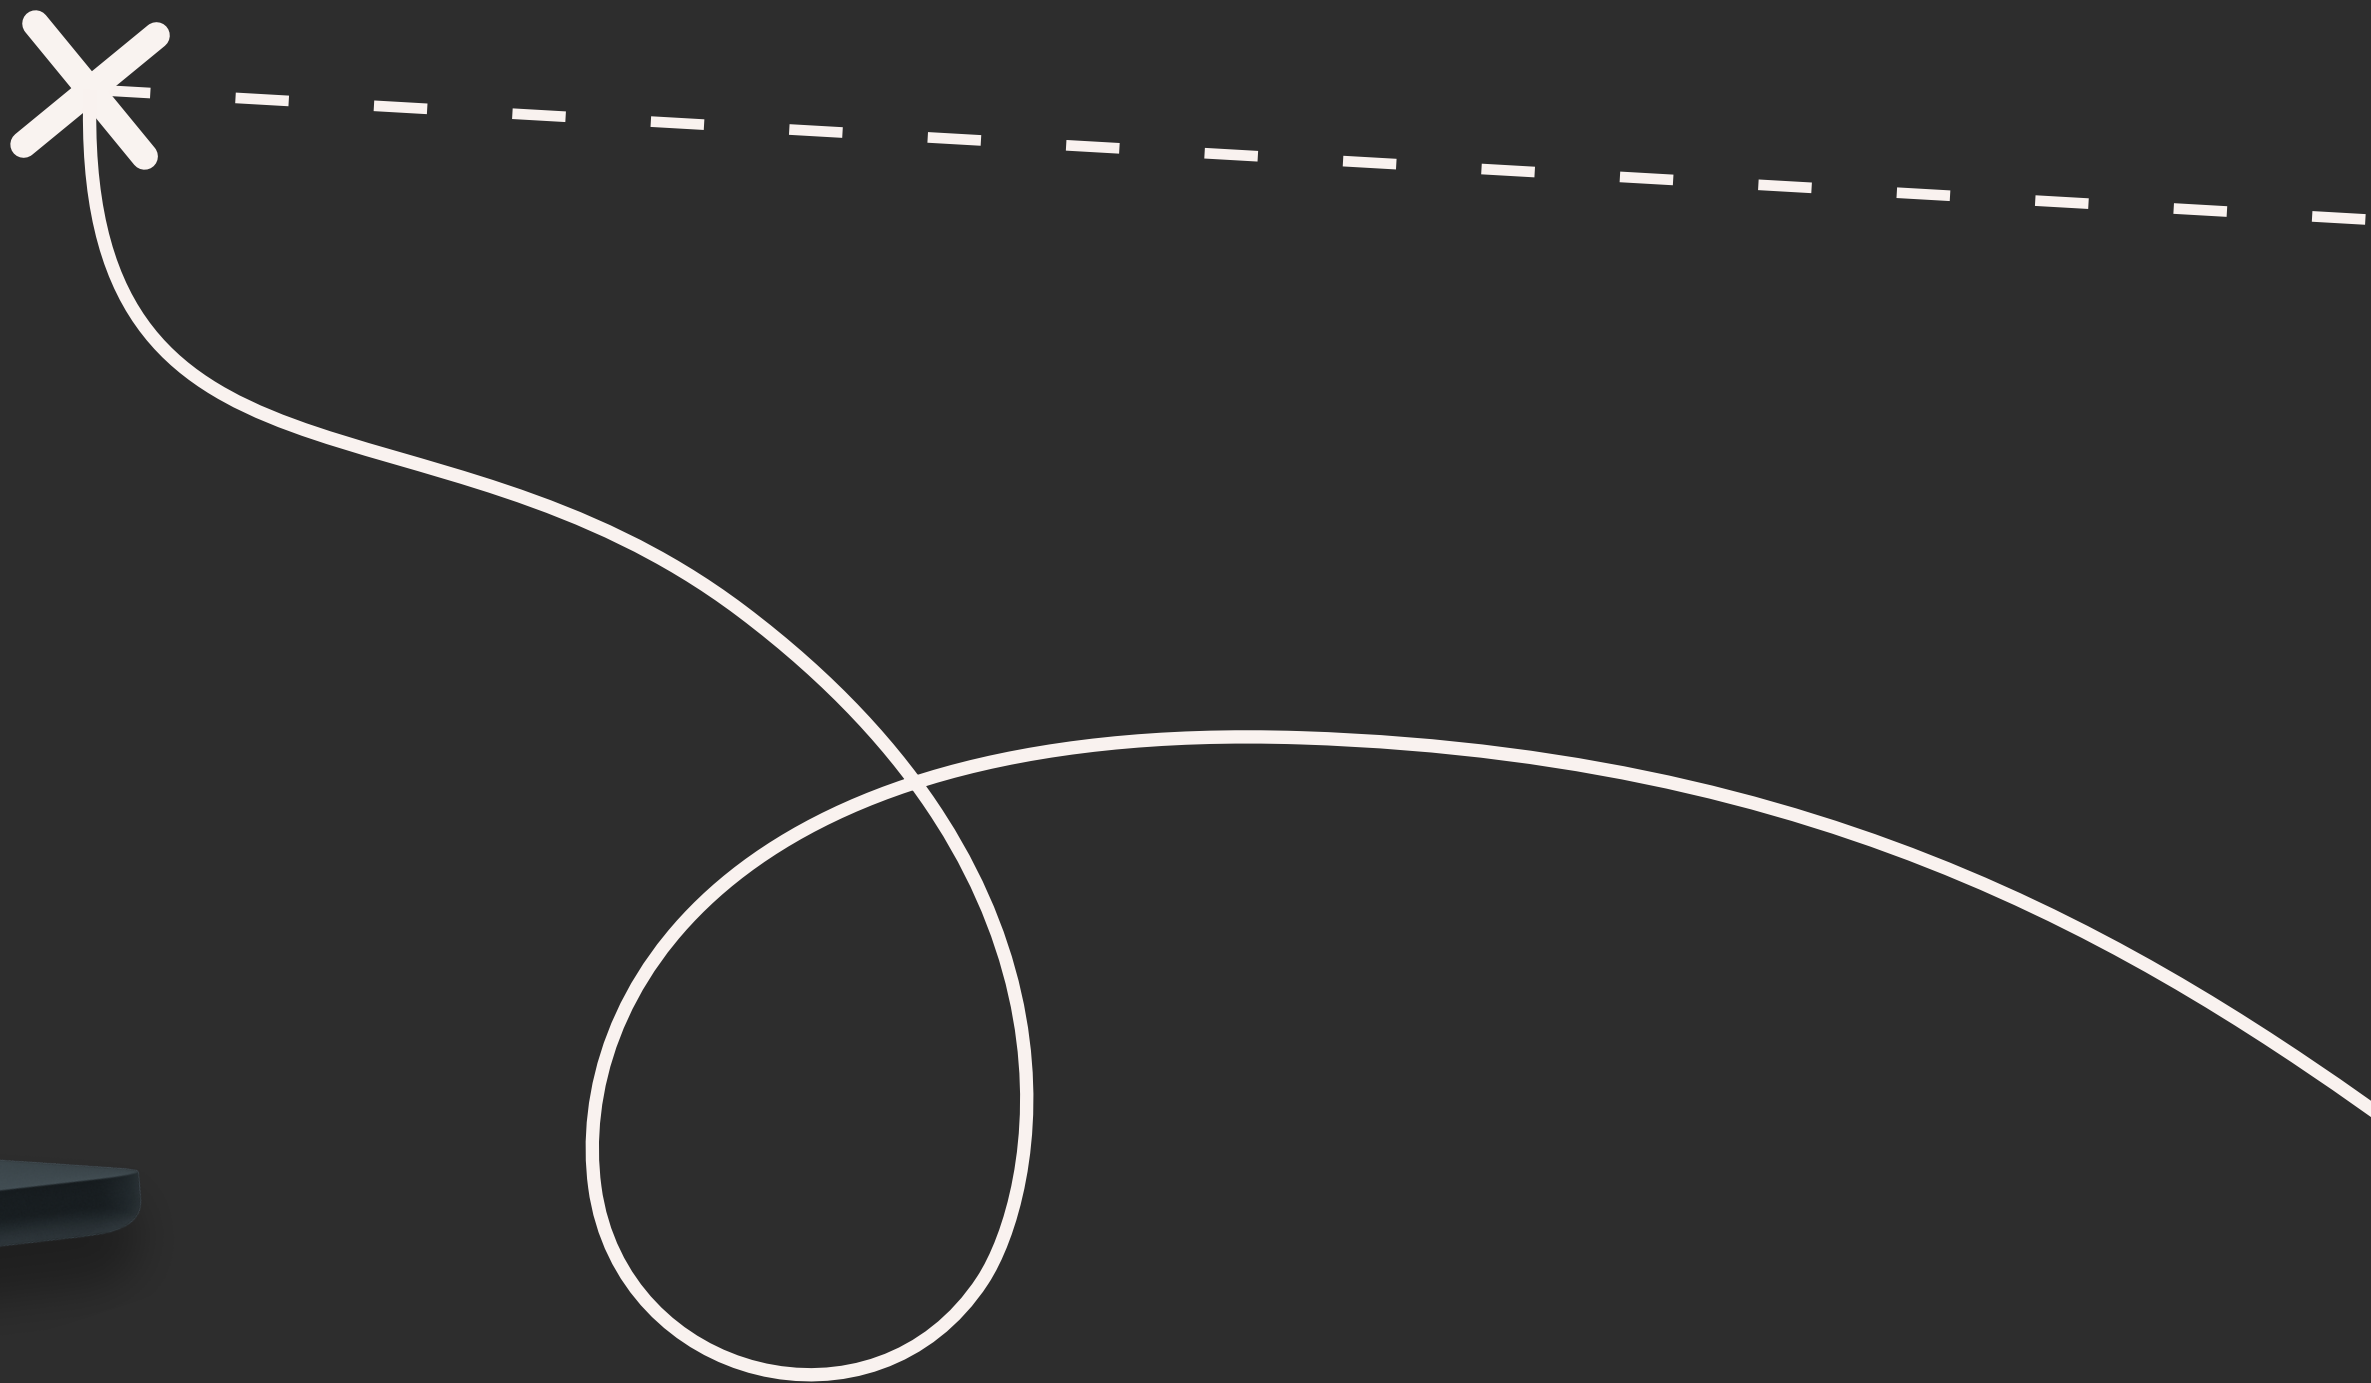

Some questions are unique to that profession, as such we would advise caution to anyone out with the profession using this as a learning tool.

A bespoke designed tool to help other sectors and individual organisations understand better and measure their privilege can be designed which will provide accurate results. Please reach out to Diversity+ if you would like more information and assistance with such a project.
